

CIT Curriculum Train-the-Trainer

24 Learning Hours
In-person Classroom Course

This course is offered as part of the COPS Office National De-escalation Training Network

NCPI, in partnership with the COPS Office and CIT International, Inc., are proud to offer CIT coordinators throughout the nation the opportunity to become certified to lead CIT training within their communities.

Facilitated by expert instructors, the CIT Curriculum Train-the-Trainer course equips participants with knowledge and materials to deliver CIT training effectively and confidently within their communities. Participants receive the full set of instructional materials for the Crisis Response and Intervention Training (CRIT) national curriculum, which is grounded in the CIT Memphis Model and developed by CIT International experts and national partners.

Course Topics:

- How to use the instructor guide
- Preparing for the training week
- Developing and preparing your community instructors
- Selecting and preparing effective site-visits
- A review of each module including relevant instructional points
- How to conduct de-escalation training
- How to conduct scenario-based training
- Student-instructor presentations and evaluations

Audience:

Eligible participants are public safety, mental health or advocacy practitioners who are either certified as a CIT Coordinator or non-certified members of a recognized CIT team accompanied by at least one certified coordinator from their program in attendance.

Schedule No-Cost Training:

We are actively seeking partners throughout the U.S. to serve as hosts for this no-cost training. If your agency is interested in hosting, please contact us to discuss availability and next steps.
